CRITICAL THINKING · YOU ARE THE TOWN COUNCIL

There is no correct set of rules — the IT COSTS column is the lesson. Most groups say yes to the fee first, because it feels painless, then slow down at the ships and the apartments, where the people who pay are neighbors and not strangers. If a group says yes to everything, ask who still has a job. If a group says yes to nothing, ask who will live in the town in ten years. “Change nothing” is on the list on purpose: it is also a decision, and somebody still pays for it.

02 TEACHER GUIDE

BEFORE CLASS

AIM

Talk about why too many tourists can be a problem, and give a simple opinion with a reason.

LENGTH

45–60 minutes.

READING SUPPORT

Play the audio once with books closed, then read again in pairs, one paragraph each. The five bold words are the five vocabulary words — point this out before students start.

WATCH FOR

Fee and limit are new for most classes at this level. Teach fee with a ticket price, and limit with a gesture. Students often say “~~too much people~~” — model too many people.

EXTENSION

In pairs, make a short poster: three rules for good visitors.

03 DISCUSSION NOTES

GUIDE THE TALK

STUDENTS MAY MENTION

jobs & money · expensive rents · noise · long lines · dirty streets · big ships · quiet months

SENTENCE FRAMES

- I think it is fair / not fair, because...
- For residents it is... but for tourists it is...
- In my city / my country,...

FOLLOW-UP QUESTIONS

- Five euros — is that a lot of money? For who?
- Are you a tourist sometimes? What do you do?
- Can a town say no to visitors?

IF THE TALK STOPS

Give one minute of silent thinking time and let students write two words first. At this level the ideas are there before the sentences are.

SAMPLE ANSWER

I think tourists should pay a small fee to visit a popular city. When a city is very crowded, the streets get dirty and the buses are full. The city needs money for this work. Five euros is not a lot for one day.

But tourists also bring money and jobs, so cities should not stop them. I think the residents and the visitors are both important. A small fee and fewer big ships are a good idea. Then the city can limit the crowds, and local people can enjoy their home again.
